About NADRA

The North American Deck and Railing Association was formed in 2004 in response to concerns within the industry regarding the compatibility of new generation wood treatments and fasteners. Today, NADRA provides a unified source of information for the professional development, promotion, growth, and sustainability of the deck and railing building industry, as well as for consumers. Its membership consists of deck builders, manufacturers, dealers and distributors, wholesalers, retailers, and other service providers to the deck and railing industry.
